Approachable Printmaking

INSTRUCTOR: Michelle Dreher

Printmaking is a rewarding medium with endless possibilities for experimentation often leading to pleasantly surprising results. During this class, we focus on two different processes, linocut and silkscreen. First, you will learn carving techniques to create linocuts that can be printed by hand or by using an etching press. Then be introduced to the art of silkscreen printing while discovering how to break down what you draw into translatable graphic elements. Throughout this course, we will learn how to approach these processes in various ways to gain an understanding of how it can be applied to your studio practice as well as how to manipulate the two processes based on your own availability of materials and facilities.
